WARREN WARD&CO

Hon Morgan R. Wise, of Pennsylvania, Chairman of the Committee on Manufactures of the House of Represcutatives addressed a letter to Paulessor Charles I Chandler, President of the New-York Board of Health, informing him that the committee hast under considera-tion a bill in relation to adulterations in food and drink. and asking whether the article known as Oleomargarin or Butterine is whotesome or unwholesome, and for such other information as might be in the possession of the Board. The following is Prof. Chandler's response:

HEALTH DEPARTMENT, 301 MOTT-ST. } NEW-YORK, March 27, 1880. In reply to your letter of inquiry, I would say that I have heen familiar with the discovery of Mege Mouries in its appli-cation in the manufacture of artificial butter, called "Butter-

"Oleomargarine," since the date of its first publication I have frequently seen it manufactured, witnessing all the I have frequently seen it manufactured, witnessing all the operations, and examining both the material and the product. I have studied the subject with speciar reference to its use as food, in comparison with the ordinary butter made from cream, and have satisfied myself that it is quite as valuable as the butter made from the cow; that the material from which it is manufactured is perfectly fresh beef-suct; that the processes are harmless; that the manufacture is conducted with great cleanliness. The product is palatable and wholesome, and I regard it as a most valuable article of food, and consider the discovery of Mege Mouries as marking an claim the chemthe discovery of Mege Mouries as marking an era in the chem-

Butterine is manufactured of uniform quality the year round, and can be sold at a price far below that at which ordi-nary butter is sold. It does not readily become raucid, and is free from the objectionable taste and odor which characterize a large proportion of the butter sold in this market.

Last winter a resolution was adopted by the Legislature of the State of New-York, requesting the Board of Realth of the City of New-York to investigate the subject and report whether in its opinion the Butterine is a wholesome article of food. In response to this resolution, the Board of Health stated that in its opinion there is no sanitary objection what-ever to the unrestricted manufacture and sale of this sub-In support of my opinion here expressed, I inclose the statement to the same effect made by Professor George F. Barker, of the University of Pennsylvania; Dr. Henry A. Mott. Jr., of New-York; Professor S. C. Caldwell, of Cornell University; Professor S. W. Johnson, of Yale College; Professor C. A. fessor W. Atwater, of the Wesleyan University, at Middle-town, Conn.; and Professor J. W. S. Arnold, of the Medical Department of the University of New-York. Hoping that this, my reply contains all the information you lesire, I remain,

DUPLICATED

TRUTH ABOUT OLEOMARGARINE.

chemists and scientists in this country, based on personal examination and investigation; and yet a committee, consisting of three State Senators representing dairy districts, with an attorney from the State Diarymen's Association, have been holding an investigation, in which absurd stories to the discredit of oleomargarine were cagerly accepted as "evidence," while there was a manifest rejuctance to bring out facts which exist to its credit. The local Board of Health was ignored; the Committee did not visit a single oleomargarine factory, evidently preferring to accept the imagination of the artists of the comic papers to prove that electraryarine or butterine was an wholesome, and have now gone back to Albany and reported a bill probibiting its manufacture or sale, and placing thirty thousand dollars at the disposal of the State Dairymen's

Association to enforce the law. In view of this extraordinary difference of opinion'as to the leanliness and wholesomeness of this article, attention is invited to the following points. IF OLEOMARGARINE IS DANGER-OUS TO HEALTH, IT SHOULD BE FROMIBITED, but it is not.

The millions of pounds consumed without detriment confirm the opinions of the eminent chemists above mentioned. Reef-suct, lard and vegetable oils are in daily consumption in other forms, without objection. It is only when they promise to keep the price of butter within reasonable limits that the datevman objects; and why should the farmers, who product the beef-fat, lard or oils, be discriminated against to enable the dairy farmers to charge the consumer exorbitant prices for butter | The only trouble about the business is that elemangarine is so good that retail dealers, knowing that it is better than poor butter, wrongly sell it as butter. It is a fact known to every dealer that oleomargatine has to bear the odium of bad butter; consumers daily stigmatize bad butter as "olecmargarine." while it is safe to say that there is no oleomargarine made that is so unpalatable or unwholesome as rancid butter. If consumers will insist on their grocer getting them a sample of oleomargarine, and try it for themselves, they will see this is true. At present grocers have a double metive for its fraudulent sale: 1st. To avoid prejudice, 2d. To make more profit. If the lies told about its uncleanliness were stopped, and inspectors provided to make grocers sell it for what it is, there would be no trouble, and dairymen, manufacturers of dairy substitutes, grocers and consumers would
